

Cleaning Process in “FIFA21 Players” Dataset:

“FIFA 21 players” is a very messy and raw dataset of EA Sports' latest installment of their hit FIFA series - FIFA21, from sofifa.com.

Inspiration

1. Convert the height and weight columns to numerical forms
2. Remove unnecessary line breaks from all columns that contain them.
3. Use the "Joined" column to find out which players have been with the club for more than 10 years!
4. 'Value', 'Wage' and "Release Clause" are string columns. Convert them to numbers. For e.g., "M" in value column is Million, so multiply the row values by 1,000,000, etc.
5. Some columns have 'star' characters. Strip those columns of these stars and make the columns numerical
6. Which players are highly valuable but still underpaid (on low wages)?

Data Cleaning Steps:

1. I used Excel Power Query to upload the CSV file and converted it using Unicode (UTF-8) file origin to handle special characters.

2. By filtering the Name column, I deleted the first symbol of these players.

3. In cell H1, Remove the column heading from “↓OVA” to “OVA”.
4. I transformed the data into Power Query and used the “Replace Values” feature to remove unwanted newlines, tabs, and non-breaking spaces from all columns and change their types.
5. Changed the values in “OVA”, “POT” and “BOV” into percentages by dividing its values by 100 and changing the column type into percent.
6. In "Height" and "Weight" columns I split these columns using split columns feature in Power Query to make their numerical values in a column and their measuring units in another column.

SplitColumn("#Split Column by Character Transition", "Weight", Splitter.SplitTextByCharacterTransition)

170	cm	72	kg	Le
187	cm	83	kg	Ri
188	cm	87	kg	Ri
181	cm	70	kg	Ri
175	cm	68	kg	Ri

For Weight column I used “IF” function to convert lbm to kg with this formula
 “=IF([@[Weight.2]]="kg",VALUE([@[Weight.1]]),CONVERT(VALUE([@[Weight.1]]),"lbm","kg"))”, then I have used a convertor website
<https://www.rapidtables.com/convert/length/inch-to-cm.html> to convert inches to cm in Height column.

7. Using “Find & Select” feature on the “Home” tab to replace the “M” and “K” characters in the “Value”, “Wage” and “Release Clause” columns to their values (M = 1,000,000 and K = 1,000) to make their values numerical.
8. Finally, I used "Find & Select" to remove the "★" in the "W/F", "SM" and "IR" columns.

Which players are highly valuable but still underpaid (with low wages)?

In the scatterplot below, we can see that Kylian Mbappé is the most valuable player at low wages (around $160,000 per week). There are many valuable players with low wages like Sancho, Havertz, Oblak, Arnold and Lautaro Martínez.
